
Talk by Reasoning Mind

Sponsored by The University of Houston's Pi Mu Epsilon Math Club

Event: Talk by representatives from Reasoning Mind

Time: Friday, October 18 from 3–4PM

Place: Room SEC 204

Description: Reasoning Mind is a Houston-based non-profit organization that develops online math curricula and supports schools, teachers, and parents implementing its programs. They hire a large number of math majors and Ph.D. mathematicians. Representatives from Reasoning Mind will be present at this talk to tell you more about what their organization does and answer questions. If you are interested in finding out about job opportunities related to math education, as well as job opportunities for math majors besides going to graduate school or becoming a high school teacher, come check it out! Free food and drinks will be provided.

For future events, see <http://www.math.uh.edu/PME>